Terminology within this RAP

This Reconciliation Action Plan uses the term First Nations peoples in reference to all people who identify as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander or both. We acknowledge and respect that it is preferable to identify First Nations peoples, where possible, by their specific language group or nation, and will continue to strive to use local names and terminology based on local preferences. We use the term First Nations people in this document on advice from our First Nations partners.

Our vision for reconciliation

At Dexus we are committed to partnering with First Nations peoples to strengthen our relationships and operations, creating a lasting positive impact and sustainable tomorrow for all Australians.

As a real asset group, managing assets across Australia, we are in a unique position to work with our First Nations partners, customers and communities to advance our vision for reconciliation across all our assets.

As part of our vision we have identified three areas aligned to our sustainability priorities where we believe we can create the greatest impact working with our First Nations partners. These are:

Customer Prosperity: Engaging with our customers to support their RAP journeys. Providing practical support for tenant initiatives within our assets, sharing our knowledge and connecting with our partners.

Climate Action: Supporting the Indigenous carbon industry through carbon offsets that are Indigenous-led, innovative, support healthy country and better livelihoods for First Nations peoples.

Enhancing communities: Acknowledging and partnering with Indigenous peoples across our assets, to activate our spaces that ensure our assets are accessible and reflective of the communities in which they operate.

Underpinning our vision is a specific commitment to education and acknowledging the past, recognising the present, and taking action towards a better future.

Message from the CEO of Reconciliation Australia

Reconciliation Australia congratulates Dexus on continuing its reconciliation journey by formally endorsing Dexus Holdings second Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP).

Through this plan, Dexus continues to play an important role in a network of more than 3,000 corporate, government, and not-for-profit organisations that have made a formal commitment to reconciliation through the RAP program.

Since 2006, RAPs have provided a framework for organisations to leverage their structures and diverse spheres of influence to support the national reconciliation movement. The program's potential for impact is greater than ever, with close to 3 million people now working or studying in an organisation with a RAP.

The four RAP types – Reflect, Innovate, Stretch and Elevate – allow RAP partners to continuously develop and strengthen reconciliation commitments in new ways. This Reflect RAP continues the journey and primes the workplace for future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives.

The RAP program's strength is its framework of relationships, respect, and opportunities, allowing an organisation to strategically set its reconciliation commitments in line with its own business objectives, for the most effective outcomes.

These outcomes contribute towards the five dimensions of reconciliation: race relations; equality and equity; institutional integrity; unity; and historical acceptance.

It is critical to not only uphold all five dimensions of reconciliation, but also to increase awareness of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures, histories, knowledge, and leadership across all sectors of Australian society.

This Reflect RAP enables Dexus to deepen its understanding of its sphere of influence and the unique contribution it can make to lead progress across the five dimensions. Getting these steps right will ensure the sustainability of future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives, and provide meaningful impact toward Australia's reconciliation journey.

Congratulations Dexus on your second Reflect RAP, and I look forward to following your continuing reconciliation journey.

Message from our CEO

Our purpose at Dexus is to unlock potential, create tomorrow. It captures our unique ability to expand what is possible from every opportunity and use that potential to deliver long term value for our people, customers, investors and communities. Importantly, this includes consolidating and extending our organisation's engagement with First Nations peoples.

With the acquisition of AMP Capital, now is the time to redefine our approach to First Nations engagement and to build the next RAP that reflects the new Dexus – one of Australia's leading fully integrated real asset groups, managing a high-quality Australasian real estate and infrastructure portfolio valued at $57.1 billion<sup>1</sup>.

Our new RAP provides the opportunity to align towards our new purpose, values and core business and prioritise areas of impact. Our RAP will be a living document that will guide us on this next stage of our journey. We are excited to see the positive impact it will have on our organisation and the wider community as we deliver on our new RAP.

RAP artist and designer

Amy is the founder and Director of Indigico Creative, a graphic designer, photographer and contemporary Aboriginal artist. Amy is a Gumbaynggirr and Bundjalung woman whose family's traditional land is located in the Clarence Valley in a rural area called Cangai in NSW. Amy's identity is strongly grounded in Gomeroi culture, history, dreaming, art and language having been born and raised in Tamworth, NSW, where she still lives with her husband and two children.

Amy first started her business journey as a graphic designer in 2014 and has since been collaborating with businesses and partnering with communities Australia-wide to creatively communicate the stories that bring us together. After reconnecting with her artistic roots, Amy merged her skills in digital communication design with her art expression to deliver a modern approach to Aboriginal storytelling in the form of digital art. Amy's artworks are an extension from her journey of exploring her own cultural identity, bringing her unique ability to speak in colour and imagery to create visual representations of the journeys and values of organisations and communities.

"The Places Where We Thrive"

© by Amy Allerton, 2022

This artwork tells the story of a vision for our communities, both large and small, where they are all thriving and strong as they build lives, homes and legacies for present and future generations. Every community is connected by spirit and by country, surrounded by flourishing waterways and vibrant land that is enriched and cared for by its people. Communities are empowered to unlock potential and find new ways to build and expand, as they dream and innovate to create the places of tomorrow.

Our reconciliation journey

Dexus recognises that First Nations peoples have been a part of Australia's history for over 60,000 years and acknowledges their ongoing care of Country.

We are proud of the achievements from our first RAP and we have gained many learnings and insights into how we can build on that experience. We also recognise that there is more to learn and we are focused on strengthening our commitment.

Some of our accomplishments to date include:

- Dexus's first Reflect RAP was launched in 2021. Since then the business has significantly changed, with the acquisition of AMP Capital in 2023. In addition, we have also established a new sustainability strategy.
- First development project Reconciliation Action Plan, has been developed at Waterfront Brisbane. Its aim is to ensure the building celebrates Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, cultures, and heritage from project Strategy through to and including Construction. This started with Jahmarley Dawson, an emerging leader of the Turrbal People, the Traditional Owners of the lands and waterways where the development of Waterfront Brisbane is being built, delivering a Welcome to Country and smoking ceremony to mark the commencement of construction.
- Indigenous and First Nations peoples engagement (across Australia and New Zealand) has been identified as one of our sustainability foundations in the Dexus sustainability strategy. This reflects the importance we place on acknowledging and learning from the Traditional Owners of the lands on which we operate.
- Activating our spaces on key dates in the reconciliation calendar, such as NAIDOC Week and National Reconciliation Week, has provided an opportunity for our people and customers to engage with initiatives and events that strengthen their understanding of First Nations people's cultures and histories.
- Share-A-Book campaign, has been an initiative we have run annually since 2018 with the Australian Literacy & Numeracy Foundation. It encourages the donation of new children's books so they can be given a new home in First Nations, refugee, and marginalised communities in need of resources. Across our office portfolio we have held book collections in the lobbies. We are looking forward to launching this across our industrial and health portfolio in 2024.

- First Nations artwork has for many years been incorporated in our assets, reflecting local artists and communities. An early example is in 2016, where established a Koorden Sculptures art installation by Noongar artist, Rod Garlett, that was showcased in the Wellington Gardens outside of one of the office towers at Kings Square (Perth). More recently at Indooroopilly, we commissioned local artist Matt Robert, and his artwork Ngalin Ayeye (our yarn) for hoarding across the centre.
- Bespoke cultural training, developed alongside PWC Indigenous Consulting, was launched in 2022 and rolled out to all employees, with face-to-face training for our executive team, RAP Working Group (RAPWG) and other key stakeholders involved in the delivery of our RAP.
- Acknowledging Traditional Custodians across our sites with signage, has been ongoing since our first RAP in 2022. In 2023 we updated signage across all assets that were acquired and managed by Dexus as part of our acquisition. As part of our new RAP we will be continuing this process across all our managed sites.
- Increasing our supplier diversity, through our engagement with Supply Nation, has resulted in Dexus increasing its procurement with Indigenous owned businesses. Dexus has been a member of Supply Nation since 2019 and is proud to be working with an organisation that is helping to build thriving First Nations businesses.

This next RAP is another marker in our journey with Reconciliation Australia, and is reflective of Dexus in 2024, post the acquisition of AMP Capital. This Reflect RAP also aligns our reconciliation activities to our new purpose, values, and priority areas of impact.

Learnings from our RAP journey so far

We intend to recognise and build on our experiences and learning from our first RAP. Through extensive engagement across the business, with employees, leaders, RAP Working Group members and First Nations partners, four themes were identified that have informed our new RAP.

A vision that speaks to our purpose

As our organisation has changed, our vision of reconciliation should be reflective of our new strategic aims and aspirations. It is also important to contextualise our business and the relevance of the RAP to the real assets and physical spaces we own and operate.

This RAP provides an opportunity to align to our new purpose, strategic priorities, values and aspirations.

Supporting our passionate advocates

Through our existing work, we have a core group of employees who are highly engaged and want to do more within and beyond Dexus. Acknowledging the impacts and opportunities they are creating, we are committed to supporting them to influence and engage with others across the business. Impact is not created overnight, but reflecting on our progress to date, it is clear that our people are critical to successful reconciliation and it is important that they are able to share their experiences and we acknowledge and celebrate their success. We need to ensure we continue to create an environment and culture where people can go on their own journeys.

Continuing to learn and engage

Over the last two years, a range of events have been delivered as a part of our RAP. These have varied from NAIDOC celebrations in retail spaces through to panel discussions for employees on the Voice referendum. As we have engaged our people on the journey so far, it was often these events that were most memorable and impactful. Building knowledge, understanding and relationships will play an important role in our future reconciliation success.

Our new RAP provides an opportunity to not only build knowledge within our own organisation, but with our customers and communities.

Reviewing our governance

Alignment with the new sustainability strategy creates an opportunity to align with the governance and reporting structures established for embedding sustainability within the organisation. The RAP Working Group (RAPWG) will report via the Executive Committee and Board Sustainability Committee as part of the sustainability strategy governance. Success of our first RAP was only possible through strong representation from across the business. The new RAPWG is reflective of our evolved organisation and ensures broad representation from across the business.

Our RAP Working Group and governance

The Dexus RAP Working Group is comprised of 12 employees from various departments and business functions. There is a broad spread of capability, including:

Chair and RAP Champion: Executive General Manager, Office (Sector: Office)

RAP Employee Lead: General Manager, Social, Customer & Funds Sustainability (Department: COO, Sustainability)

- Team Assistant (Department: Funds Management)
- Marketing Manager (Department: Marketing)
- Internal Communications Manager (Department: Corporate Affairs and Communications)

The Dexus RAP Working Group currently does not have Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander representation. We are activating various internal communication channels within our business to seek membership from those who identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people, and we will continue to regularly engage with our people on this.

With our partners PWC Indigenous Consulting we always ensure there is First Nations representation within our RAP meetings, and a voice to help inform and guide our actions across Dexus. We will also look to continue to actively work with our partners and to engage with First Nations people as we commence the implementation of our Reflect RAP.

Progress against goals will be reported regularly through the Dexus RAP Working Group to the Executive Committee and Board Sustainability Committee. Reporting will be rolled up annually to Reconciliation Australia's RAP Impact Measurement Survey and Dexus' annual reporting to various stakeholders, including its investors.

Relationships

With a large customer base across Australia, we are in a unique position to bring partners together to share experiences, make connections and partner to deliver reconciliation outcomes. Building stronger relationships with First Nations peoples is essential if we are to create connections with our customers to support their RAP journeys.
